ISSUE: REQUEST FOR 60-DAY COMMENT PERIOD FOR EOIR PROPOSED RULE ON FEES: EOIR DOCKET NO. 18-0101

General Content: The proposed fee changes will have grave consequences for people seeking appeals in their immigration cases and individuals who are eligible for relief such as cancellation of removal. If people are unable to appeal their cases through the BIA because they lack sufficient funds, they may be swiftly deported to some of the most dangerous places in the world. Further, this proposal has significant implications on access to due process and justice since cases cannot be appealed to the federal circuit court for review until all administrative remedies through EOIR have been exhausted. Given these significant consequences, we do not see a justification for deviating from the 60-day standard for comment periods, as designated in EO 12866 and EO 13563.

ISSUE: INCREASE CORPORATE TRANSPARENCY IN TAX

General Content: Globally, publicly traded multinational corporations only publicly disclose their global profits, so you can't see how much they're booking in tax havens. Prior to 2015, MNCs only reported to tax authorities their operations in that specific country, so tax authorities couldn't see how MNCs were gaming the system. Then, in 2015, the OECD member nations (including the U.S.) agreed to a standard requiring large multinational corporations to privately report to tax authorities their global taxes, profits, revenues, employees, and a few other metrics disaggregated on a country-by-country basis. That led to the IRS disclosure requirements going into effect in 2016. For the first time in 5 years, the OECD is reviewing its standard, so now is the time to push them to:

- Require corporations to PUBLICLY disclose this information.
- Lower the threshold for reporting so that many more multinational corporations have to report this information, and
- Align their standard with the newly published Tax Standard from the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI), which produces better information.
